

University Cooperation and Process of Peace

5

University Cooperation and Process of Peace

edited by Massimo Maria Caneva

Preface of Pietro Sebastiani

The traditional "Academic Collaboration" is distinct from the "University Cooperation for Peace" understood as a strategy of action aimed to build a more developed and peaceful society. When we speak about "University Cooperation for Peace" we don't refer only to the exchange of lecturers and researchers. "University Cooperation for Peace" implies a more general strategy based on both analysis and action, of training and research in the field, of cooperation among the Academy and Civil Institutions, Diplomats and International Organizations, UN Peace Forces, in order to provide support in both the prevention and solution of crisis promoting future development.

Contributions by Adriano Benedetti, Marija Bogdanović, Massimo Maria Caneva, Sebastiano Cardi, Fabio Casini, Gabriele Checchia, Diego Cimino, Vincenzo Coppola, Youssef Gemayel, Marco Gregori, Nazir Ibrahim, Antonio Macchia, Igor Maksimsev, Francesco Maria Talò, Giorgio Marrapodi, Ibrahim Matar, Barak Medina, Franco Mistretta, Aleksandra Nikolić, Gabriele Pierini, Cinzia Vanzo.

Massimo Maria Caneva MD is PhD in Social Medicine (Humanitarian Crises / Stage Oxford University) at Sapienza University of Rome (2000) and he is President of AESI. He is Coordinator of "Health and Diplomacy" at the University Hospital CBM and Director of the Rome international seminar for peace in the Balkans of the Middle East at the University of Study Roma Tre. He is also Coordinator of University Cooperation (2004/14) for the MAECI DGCS and of some University Cooperation programs: Latin America, Asia, the Middle East, the Baltic, the Caucasus and the Balkans.

In collaboration with the Delegation in Italy

Cover:

Italian Ministry of Foreign Affairs – AESI meeting in Rome, February 2020.

15,00 euro

ISBN 978-88-255-3383-5

University Cooperation and Process of Peace edited by M.M. Caneva

ARACNE

