

Attention: Professor Massimo Maria Caneva

“Education is the most powerful weapon which you can use to change the world.” Nelson Mandela

Beirut, October 10, 2026

Dear Professor Caneva,

On behalf of the Lebanese delegation, we would like to express our sincere gratitude for your generous invitation to the 2026 edition of the Rome International Seminar, organized by Roma Tre University.

We would also like to extend our particular thanks to Professor Massimiliano Fiorucci, Rector of Roma Tre University, and to the entire team for their warm hospitality and impeccable organization.

The theme of this year's gathering could hardly have been more relevant in today's world. We were deeply impressed by the quality of the discussions and by the commitment and engagement of the students and rectors, whose contributions reaffirmed the essential role of universities in fostering a culture of peace and dialogue.

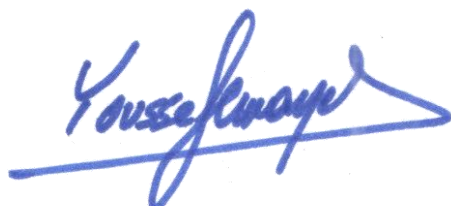

The seminar was further enriched by a remarkable program of visits, meetings, and concerts for peace. The encounters with distinguished personalities provided precious opportunities for meaningful exchange beyond the formal sessions.

The concerts for peace added a particularly moving dimension to our experience, reminding us that music, like education, transcends borders and speaks to all peoples, conveying a message of fraternity that words alone cannot always express.

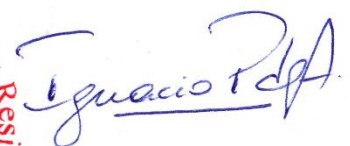

Allow us also to pay tribute to your personal commitment, Professor Caneva, to bringing cultures and people closer through academic exchange. Your steadfast dedication to promoting peace and dialogue through education is deeply inspiring and greatly appreciated.

We look forward to strengthening our collaboration and continuing to pursue our shared mission of promoting peace through academic and cultural cooperation.

With our highest regards and sincere appreciation,

Prof. Youssef Gemayel
Head of the Delegation

Ignacio Perez
Delegation Coordinator
Director of Phoenix Institute